

THANK YOU FOR YOUR SUPPORT!

THE THOMAS WEBB RICHARDS SOCIETY

The Thomas Webb Richards Society honors alumni who donate to the PennDesign Annual Fund on a consistent basis and believe in the importance of supporting student fellowships and programming every year. Richards was the first professor of architecture and drawing at the University of Pennsylvania, from 1874-1891. He paved the way for today's practice professors, as he concurrently taught and practiced. Richards designed four buildings for Penn's campus, including the landmark College Hall (1873) on Blanche Levy Park. Just as Richards laid the groundwork for the School, gifts from members of the PennDesign Thomas Webb Richards Society serve as the foundation for PennDesign's growth. Donors who have made annual fund gifts every year for the past three or more years are members of the Thomas Webb Richards Society.
