TIME TO GET YOUR CAP AND GOWN!

Academic Regalia

The Penn Bookstore is pleased to serve as the University's official academic regalia provider for all graduates and participating faculty, marshals and trustees.

Grad Fair Information

March 15, 16 & 17, 2017

The Penn Bookstore's annual Grad Fair provides the opportunity for degree candidates to acquire their academic regalia as well as graduation announcements, class rings, and diploma frames. Representatives will be on hand at Grad Fair to answer any questions you may have. Bachelor's and Master's degree candidates will be able to purchase and pick up their Commencement regalia during the fair. Doctoral students have the option of renting their regalia or purchasing either a full set or individual components of their commencement regalia. Orders will be processed during Grad Fair.

Obtaining Your Academic Regalia

Bachelor's & Master's Degree Candidates

- Degree candidates may purchase and receive their Commencement regalia at the Penn Bookstore March 15, 16 & 17, 2017. The regalia will be yours to own as a commemorative keepsake.

- Regalia will be distributed on the second level of the Penn Bookstore near the textbook department. You will have the opportunity to try on your regalia and speak with staff members regarding any questions.

GreenWeaver

In support of the University's Climate Action Plan, gowns and caps for Penn's Class of 2017 come from a sustainable line of graduation wear named GreenWeaver. The gowns are made from fabric spun from molten plastic pellets which come from 100 percent, post-consumer recycled plastic bottles. It takes an average of 23 bottles to make each gown which is comfortably soft and virtually indistinguishable in color, feel or fit from traditional polyester material. Penn, the first Ivy League institution to commit to this product, has been offering the GreenWeaver line since 2010.
